

Who's New In Your Area?

AromatiCuisine comes to Scottish Borders

Have you ever wanted to experience an authentic meal in the comfort of your own home, complete with the scents, sounds and spices from exotic Goa? Then Bosco Santimano is your man.

Bosco will come to your home to explain, cook and serve dishes at your table, recipes of which have been handed down through generations of his family.

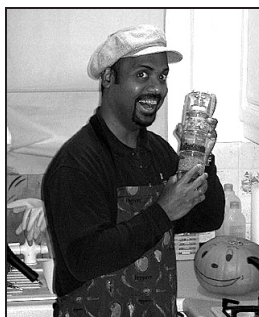

AromatiCuisine offers a specialised and exclusive "In House Catering" to people who are looking for "quality food" and "professional" service.

Bosco comes from a small village in South Goa (India), he studied Commerce and Economics in Bombay and later joined a cruise ship and travelled the world until he arrived in Peebles in 2001, having worked for the catering industry in London, Pitlochry and Edinburgh.

Since he arrived in the UK, Bosco has been concerned about the quality and authenticity of commercial Indian food and particularly at the number of preservatives and colourings used in the cooking. "This is just not necessary," Bosco says, "as both flavour and colour is provided by authentic Indian spices."

"What I do," he continues, "is provide the kind of food a normal family from Goa would sit down to: Simple food containing only good, natural and fresh ingredients."

His main priority is cooking for healthy living. "In Goa," he says, "we eat for nourishment as well as for good taste."

The meals can also be tailored to "individual dietary requirements," allergies can be catered for and the dishes can be spicy-hot or not, as desired. "Indian food does not have to be hot," he insists. "Even a vindaloo does not have to be hot, it just has to be tasty."

If you wish you could call Bosco to work in your kitchen, while you can put your feet up and relax, secure in the knowledge that when you and your guests are ready to eat, there will be an unforgettable "eating" experience waiting for you.

Satisfied diners have welcomed this whole new eating experience.

Ron and Alice Clarke from Peebles said the good food and friendly service were a winning formula. "The food and his friendly service are a great combination," they agreed.
